VON STEUBEN STATUE WAS UNVEILED IN BERLIN TODAY

Congressman Bartholt Presented to Germany Memorial to German who Fought in Revolution--Statue Gift of America in Berlin.

Special to Telegram.

Berlin, Sept. 2.—Symbolizing the function as a pledge of peace and a guarantee of the sincerity of the hope of all American people that the two nations will be drawn closer together in the bonds of peace, Congressman Richard Bartholt, as special envoy of the United States, today presented to Emperor William and the German people, the statue erected by America in Berlin to the memory of General Von Steuben, who fought with the American army in the war of the Revolution. The presentation was made in the presence of a brilliant assemblage of German court attaches and Americans.

Congressman Bartholt's address in full follows: Your Majesty:—By direction of the President of the United States we have come across the ocean to fulfill the purpose of a resolution unanimously adopted by the American Congress providing for the presentation to His Majesty, the German Emperor and the German people, of a statue of General Von Steuben, a great German and erstwhile citizen and hero of two continents as a gift from the American people. If in the performance of this honorable mission I may be permitted to interpret the sentiments of the people of the United States, I would say solemnly that the proffered donation is to be a pledge of peace and amity and a guarantee of the sincerity of the earnest hope cherished by all Americans that the fact that this ceremony may be to draw more and more closely the bonds of traditional friendship and good will which strengthened as they are by the ties of blood, have always so happily united the great German Empire with the great republic of the West, the United States of America.

The name of Steuben will ever awaken patriotic memories beyond the ocean. Its bearer was the embodiment of American order and discipline and of the loyalty of which the poet says, if it were not as old as the world, surely a German would have invented it. He was not only the order-creating genius of the Colonial army, but also the indefatigable, though modest organizer of victories. In appreciation of this great achievement, national distinctions, honored his memory by the erection, in front of the White House in Washington, of a monument which is to commemorate his valuable service as well as those rendered by the Germans generally to the cause of American independence. And today's celebration? It is verily a beautiful act of international courtesy, but may we not also interpret the ready acceptance of this statue as a just and generous willingness on the part of Steuben's old Fatherland and its exalted sovereign, to appreciate and honor those who by their conduct abroad have added lustre to the German name? Millions of hearts in the other side of the Atlantic which draw warmly on account of such dedication will rejoice exultantly at such dedication.

From the material to the political and ideal significance of today's act is but a step. The peace President extends to the Kaiser under whose reign the phrase, "The Empire is the peace," has been verified, the hand of friendship for hearty cooperation in the peaceful solution of the great problem of civilization. And are there two other nations which, resting upon the traditions of undistrusted friendship and looking forward to a future of still closer relations, could more justly feel called upon to make common cause in the great humanizing tasks of our time, in the promotion of art and science and in all tendencies looking to the increased welfare of the people? We live in a time of international conciliation and have come to realize that peaceful development of more transcendent importance than all that is now dividing the nations, and Germany's forty years of peace is an ample guarantee to America that it requires but an incentive in order to crystallize mutual sympathy into a political fact. May this beautiful ceremony hasten such a happy consummation!

A CONDITIONAL PARDON GRANTED ARTHUR WILLIAMS

Special to Telegram.

Raleigh, Sept. 2.—Governor Kitchin has granted the conditional pardon sought for Arthur Williams, a prominent young white man of Dare county, under sentence to one year in the penitentiary for betrayal under promise of marriage. This is the case in which counsel for Williams on Tuesday argued his case on appeal in the Supreme Court and on the same day went before Governor Kitchin with a petition for commutation or pardon, taking this double course in the hope of averting all possibility of the young man having to enter upon his sentence at all. The governor exacts, in granting the pardon, that Williams shall pay to the girl he wronged $500 and all the costs in the case and then remain of good behavior. This course is recommended by eleven of the jurors and many citizens, although the trial judge and the solicitor refused to join in the prayer for clemency. Since his prosecution began Williams has married another woman in Dare. He was only 17 years old when the offense for which he was sentenced was committed.

PATHETIC APPEAL TO BOY TO RETURN

Special to Telegram.

San Antonio, Texas, Sept. 2.—Twenty-two years ago, Alexander Feldman left his home in Jaffa, Palestine, intending to come to San Antonio. At that time he was nineteen years old and the sole support of his widowed mother. Since the date of his departure for America, the mother has not had one line from him. She now resides at 637 Saugnet street, Montreal, Canada, and is more than 75 years old. By some means, she heard that the son was working in San Antonio and is making an effort to locate him. A letter received in this city making inquiries for the long lost boy is a most pathetic plea for him to either return to her or make his whereabouts known. A concerted effort is being made in this city to locate Feldman and a number of persons are interesting themselves in the search.

ANOTHER WHITE SLAVE CONVICTION

Two Persons, Man and Wife in Cumberland, Sentenced For Crime.

Fayetteville, Sept. 2.—Lionie Long and his wife, Lina Riddle Long, first person convicted under the North Carolina "White Slave" law were given their sentence by Judge Whedbee, in the Superior Court, of one year on the roads and in the jail, the woman receiving the latter sentence. Judge Whedbee's arraignment of the pair in imposing sentence was very severe. He expressed regret that the maximum punishment had been fixed at twelve months under the indictment in the cases.

The victim in this case, Ullie Riddle, a pretty sixteen-year-old girl, was brought here as a witness from the Haven of Rest, a reformatory house in Columbia, S. C., where she was sent by Mayor McNeill, at the time of the arrest.

She is a relative of the Long woman's first husband, James Riddle, who was killed three years ago by his son, Tom Riddle, now serving a penitentiary term for the crime.

The United States we have the distinguished honor of asking Your Majesty to accept this statue as a token of the sincere friendship of the American government and people for Your Majesty and the people of Germany.

Philadelphia Mayoralty Contest Splits Hitherto Model Machine Organization.

For the first time in sixteen years there is a split in the Philadelphia Republican organization, which has always been regarded as a model of machine politics. George H. Earle, Jr., and William S. Vane are candidates for the Republican mayoralty nomination to be determined at the primary on Sept. 30. Vane, whose brother Ed is a millionaire contractor who has had many city contracts, is at present recorder of deeds and has made a creditable record in that office. His chief supporter is Mayor Heyburn. Earle is backed by United States Senator Boies Penrose and State Senator Jim McNeill, boss of the organization. Earle is a financier who gained a national reputation in a controversy with ex-President Roosevelt over the sugar trust. An illuminating campaign is being waged.

FIGHT LAST NIGHT AND A SHOOTING SATURDAY MORNING

Last night some time before midnight Mike Sussman assaulted Jake Jones, a young white man. The disturbance occurred in a negro settlement, known as Warnersville. The two men met and had a dispute about something and the assault took place, Sussman slashing Jones with a knife. This morning Jones met Sussman on Bilbro street and drew a revolver on him, shooting him through the calf of the left leg. The ball passed through the leg and left a clean wound which is not supposed to be serious. Jones escaped after the shooting and has not been taken by the police. Sussman was brought to the police station on a charge of breaking in a house and searching it for valuables. His bond was fixed at $50, $25 for each offense and was locked up, on failing to give bond.

Requisition For Sam Andrews.

Raleigh, Sept. 2.—The Guilford county authorities have procured from Governor Kitchin a requisition on the Governor of Virginia for Sam Andrews who was sentenced in Guilford for criminal relations and broke away from the convict camp before he had completed his sentence. The officers have now located him in Virginia and procured the requisition for his return to North Carolina.

DOUGHTON, STATE BANK EXAMINER, GIVES UP POSITION

Raleigh, Sept. 2.—A change was made yesterday in State Bank Examiners. Mr. J. Kemp Doughton resigning his position as State Bank Examiner to accept a position in the executive offices of a big manufacturing company at High Point, and the assistant examiner, Mr. Charles V. Brown, being appointed to succeed him. The position of assistant is yet to be filled.

Mr. Doughton, on the first of October, will become one of the executive officers of the Tomlinson Chair Manufacturing Company, of High Point. This company is capitalized at $750,000 and recently took over the Globe Home Furniture Company. The business done is a large one.

Mr. J. Kemp Doughton is a son of former Lieutenant-Governor R. A. Doughton, of Alleghany, and has been the State Bank Examiner since the first of January, 1909, elected to that position by the North Carolina Corporation Commission. Mr. Doughton's experience in banking was secured at the People's National Bank of Winston. Chairman Franklin McNeill, in speaking of Mr. Doughton's resignation, gave him high praise as a bank examiner and as a man. Mr. Doughton has given great satisfaction in his position, which he has filled with ability, and he has won the confidence of the public and of the bank officials, being a young man of high character, of energy and of sterling qualities. His wife was formerly Miss Josephine Brown, of this city, daughter of Mr. Joseph G. Brown, president of the Citizens' National Bank, and it will be regretted by their many friends that they will remove from the city.

GOVERNMENT TO ABANDON SMALL FORTS IN TEXAS

Special to Telegram.
San Antonio, Tex., Sept. 2.—In line with the general movement which began last spring to centralize the army of the United States in large camps, a number of the smaller posts in Texas will be abandoned in the near future. Fort McIntosh near Laredo; Fort Clark and Ringgold are among these. Fort Ringgold has already been turned over to the interior department to be disposed of, but that department has deferred action pending disposition in Congress asking that the reservations at Fort Ringgold and Fort Clark be turned over to the State of Texas as sites for sanitariums. For a number of years, these early established posts have been maintained at heavy expense and are at points not easily in touch. It is given out that the department's policy is gradually to concentrate the Texas troops at San Antonio, the time having passed long ago when small posts were needed to maintain order.

The Assistant State Bank Examiner for the past year and a half, and who was yesterday elected as successor to Mr. Doughton, is a native of Martin county, and is about 32 years old; married, and with one child, a boy. He was trained in the banking business at the Planters' Bank, of Rocky Mount, and resigned his position as cashier of that institution to accept the position of Assistant State Bank Examiner, which pays a salary of $1,800 a year. He has proven most efficient and the value placed on his services is shown by his promotion to the position of State Bank Examiner. The salary of which is $2,400 a year.

CLUSTER LIGHTS ON THROUGHFARE IN CAPITAL CITY

Business Concerns Join in Crusade to Thoroughly Light Martin Street.

Special to Telegram.

Raleigh, Sept. 2.—For the purpose of still further improving the street light equipment of Raleigh a number of citizens and business concerns have clubbed together to give to the city twenty-nine five-cluster electric light posts to be placed at the intersections of Martin street between Fayetteville street and union station. The city will have to obligate to maintain these lights for at least five years. The undertaking is assured, and it is said that the lighting will be especially beautiful, being the same as is used in lighting New York City.

Crack Shooters Back.

Special to Telegram.
Raleigh, Sept. 2.—Adjutant General R. L. Leinster, of the North Carolina National Guard, just back from the National Guard shoot at Camp Perry, Ohio, says North Carolina succeeded in escaping by several notches the booby score in the contest that was participated in by guardsmen from every State. The lowest score was Arkansas. The highest was Massachusetts. The North Carolina men all enjoyed the trip. General Leinster says. He was captain of the team.

FARMERS WILL DO ADVERTISING

Special to Telegram.

Raleigh, Sept. 2.—With a determination to greatly enlarge the attendance on the State Farmers' Convention that meets annually at the A. & M. College here, and to materially extend the scope of its influence on the farming interests of the State a special fund is being raised for advertising purposes and plans are afoot to have all the railroads allow special rates and operate excursions so that the attendance shall run into the thousands instead of hundreds as in the past. In the closing hours of the convention last afternoon more than $300 was raised for this advertising fund. The work of the convention is to be held within the scope of practical help to the farmers in their agricultural problems. Politics and special interests are to be rigidly barred. President W. J. Shuford has announced a long list of vice presidents, one from each county in the state and these are pledged to work for the most complete success of the convention.

PIANO PRIZES BARRED

"Discount Coupons" Are Objected To By Postoffice.

New York, Sept. 2.—The Postoffice authorities have given notice that so-called puzzles appearing in certain newspapers, inserted by some piano manufacturers, are not genuine and that the newspapers containing the puzzles cannot legally be sent through the mails. The nature of these puzzles varies, but the usual advertisement offers a large prize for the "best" or the "nearest" solution of a puzzle, the answer to which is fairly obvious. The persons who send in the answers are usually disappointed, and find that the award of the prize is contingent upon conditions that they had failed to consider part of the contract.

The Chicago Tribune recently called attention to a case of a woman in Michigan who sent in an answer to a puzzle in an advertisement of a Chicago piano concern. She received a letter telling her that her solution was correct, and that she would receive a $200 "prize coupon" and a diamond ring. She was invited to call to receive the prize. She spent $7 to get to Chicago, and there found that the "prize coupon" represented a discount, so named, from the purchase price of a piano, which she was urged to buy on easy terms. In this case, says the Tribune, $7 was all the money the woman had, and it took that to buy her railroad ticket. Her family was without food as a result of the effort to get a "prize" that was found not to exist.

ESCAPED PRISONER RETURNS TO PEN ON OWN ACCORD

Got Away in 1903 After Serving Two Months of Year Sentence for Larceny.

Special to Telegram.

Raleigh, Sept. 2.—Chas. Tinsley, of Vance county, applied voluntarily yesterday to the penitentiary authorities to be recommitted to the prison to complete a sentence of one year for larceny and receiving. He had begun the sentence in October 1903 and escaped in December while serving as a "trustee". Since then he went to Virginia, first to Richmond and then to Danville where he became involved in a highway robbery and was sent to the Virginia penitentiary for six years. He was pardoned after five years service and spent two years in Atlantic City where he has accumulated a bank account of $700. He says the dread of being an escaped convict has impelled him to come back to finish his North Carolina sentence. He hopes for a pardon in time.

BABY FIRE ALARM; MOTHER SLID SAFELY

Blanket Saved Sister, But Man Lost Hair on Close Call of Flame.

Baltimore, Sept. 2.—Aroused at 3:30 o'clock yesterday morning by the cries of her 8-month-old baby, Mrs. Eva Gawthrop, 4207 East Lombard street, was startled by the smell of smoke.

Leaving from her bed, she ran to the head of the stairs. Smoke was pouring up so thick that she could not see to the bottom, but the red glare that penetrated the smoke told of the fire below. Running into the adjoining room she aroused her daughter, Mrs. Ella Belleson, who, in turn, awakened the only other occupant of the house, Leroy Vane, who was on the third floor. Mrs. Gawthrop, without waiting for the other two members of the household, ran to a rear window, climbed upon the roof of the kitchen porch and slid to the ground with the baby in her arms.

Her daughter, assisted by Vane, ran down the front stairs and through the blazing hall to the street. A blanket thrown over her saved her from burning but Vane was scorched about the face and the hair on his head burned completely off.

Vane turned in an alarm. When the Canton Fire Department got there the house was ablaze from top to bottom. The damage is estimated at $1,500. Mrs. Gawthrop was buying the house through the Canton Building Association and with a few more payments the property would have been transferred to her. The insurance will cover the greater part of the damage.

SUICIDE WITH PENKNIFE

Young Cumberland Man's Act Surprises His Friends.

Cumberland, Md., Sept. 2.—Bernard Fuller, aged 21 years, of fine physique, who was employed at the United States Rail Company's office, committed suicide early last night by cutting his throat with a penknife which had been hollow-ground as if prepared for the purpose. Fuller boarded at the home of Mrs. Michael Clarke, who reared him, his father, David Fuller, and his mother, Mary Twigg Fuller, formerly of Little Arleams, Md., being dead.

He had eaten his supper, B. F. Highberger, a fellow-boarder, who sat at the table opposite him, noticed nothing peculiar in his actions, although he had complained of a pain in his head. Fuller ate a little however, and left the house shortly after supper. Half an hour later he was found dead near a pile of crossties close to the house of George Kelly, near by.

Before going to the rail mill Fuller was a driver for the R. D. Johnson Milling Company. He was quiet and steady, although the last few days he had not been working and had been drinking some. A brother, Leonard Fuller, is a Baltimore and Ohio yard brakeman here, and he also boards at the Clarke's home. Two sisters—Miss Myrtle Fuller, of Emmitsburg, Md., and Miss Odie Fuller, of Cumberland, also survive him.

Getting in Touch With the Consumer.

Secretary of Agriculture Wilson declares that one reason for the high cost of living is that producer and consumer
are not in close touch. He reports that in not a few instances the consumer pays
for his food two or three times as much as the farmer gets. B. F. Yoakum, head of Frisco railways, found that the farmers along his lines were getting only 46
cents for products that sold for $1. Both Wilson and Yoakum find that the increase is due to what they term "the high cost of selling."

Farmers of Pennsylvania and New York are seeking to remedy this by organizing to sell direct to the consumers.
They have formed the "United States
Grangers, Dealers and Consumers' Union"
and its organizer states that it now embraces 800,000 members. He believes that eventually nearly every farmer in the territory will be in the union, as it is based on the idea that vegetables, milk
poultry and all farm products can be sold for much less than they are now,
and at the same time the farmer get
more for his products.

This is not the first union organized to cut out the middle man. Others have failed through mismanagement or for some other reason. The new union proposes to establish 400 stores in New York, and these will necessarily come into competition with the existing stores.
Managing hundreds of stores requires
a high order of business ability, and it was on this rock that the co-operative stores of the old Farmers' Alliance went to wreck. But the farmers do well to organize for their own protection in marketing their products and to get as near the consumer as is practicable.

The consumer is not interested so much in how he gets his food as he is in getting food cheaper, and he will welcome
any organization of farmers, or any other class, that promises to bring down the cost of living. Maryland farmers doubtless will watch with interest the organization in the neighboring State of Pennsylvania, and, if it proves a success, will be likely to join the other States, or form a union of their own.—Baltimore

The Judge Was Not A Sport.

This is a sad story of one of the most thoroughbred sports known to the history of hazards. His name was Sullivan and he had blue eyes and red hair, with a brogue to match his coloring. John Hays Hammond, the mining engineer,
met him in prison in South Africa at the time when Hammond and other prominent men were held as captives by the Boers in connection with the Jameson raid. The engineer and the Irishman became well acquainted.

"Probably you wonder why I'm in here," said Sullivan one day, when the thermometer had gone as high as 115
degrees in the shade. "Well, I'll tell you. I got into a little trouble and I pleaded guilty to it.

"Five years," said the judge.
"Your honor," I cried out, "I'll throw heads and tails with you to see whether
it shall be 10 years or nothing!"
"And would you believe it, Mr. Hammond, that judge got mad and added on the five years anyhow. And now I'm serving that extra five. What's the use of being a sport?"—Popular Magazine.

Asked But One Tunnel More.

Among the passengers in the train
were an elderly lady and her pretty,
young niece, also a young gentleman.
The train had passed through several
tunnels, when the maiden aunt said:

"We are coming to a long tunnel; you had better sit over on this side."

Pretty Niece—Oh, no, auntie! Just let me stop where I am. One more tunnel
and I am engaged!—Boston Post.

ITEMS OF INTEREST FROM THE EUROPEAN CAPITALS

Weekly Account of Happenings in Big Cities of Europe Gathered and Boiled Down in Concise Form.

Special to Telegram.
(By FREDERICK WERNER.)

Berlin, Sept. 2.—Max Schiemangk, an international swindler, who, as Count Marcel de Passy, and under other high-sounding aliases, has won his way into society and through cash boxes in most capitals of Europe, has for the second time slipped through the fingers of the German police in a manner which reflects highly on his ingenuity and resourcefulness.

Schiemangk came from America some years ago with a uniform somewhat resembling that worn by the United States
officers. With this uniform he obtained access into society, where he began numerous adventures, especially with mat-
rimonially-inclined ladies, whom he is alleged to have largely defrauded.

The last of his long series of impostu-
res had as its object a rich estate with
a magnificent castle, in the neighborhood of Heilbronn. He was arrested before he had been able to realize his plans
and lodged in the jail of the town named.
One morning, however, his cell was found empty. He had somehow possessed himself of a file and cut through the bars of the window. On the table was a letter addressed to the Public Prosecutor. In it he begged that official's pardon for all
the trouble he had caused, and expressed regret that important business in another part of the country made it impossible for him to accept any longer the hospitality of the State.

But, like so many of his kind, Schie-
mangk is vulnerable through his heart,
in spite of the undeniable soundness of his head. His susceptibility to feminine charms drew him to Spreewald, that marshy region where a remnant of the Slav domination still wears its ancient tribal costume, speaks the Slav dialect
of its forefathers, and makes a comfortable living by punting tourists about on its canals and supplying Berlin with nursemaids. Here he drew himself up as a nobleman, and with turned-up shirt
sleeves to match bare arms of the local damsels he drank and drank with the best of them.

But he grew careless as to where he showed himself, and was identified at a ball by a municipal official, who had seen his photograph on the illustrated warrant circulated by the police. So he was caught and taken back to Heilbronn.
During the journey he told his wanderers that the authorities were merely wasting
the public money in shutting him up again, as prison walls had not yet been made that were thick enough and strong enough to keep him in. This hint was not ignored. He was chained by the legs
to the walls of one of the safest cells in the prison, and every night his clothes
were removed, so that if he did manage to escape he could only do so in a state of nakedness that would render his early recapture practically certain.

Nevertheless, all precautions were in vain. When his cell was visited it was found the bird had flown. Confederates from outside had obtained access to an adjoining building, in course of construction, thence made their way into the prison courtyard, cut through the bars
of the cell with a jemmy, and severed
with a hack saw the fetters that bound their comrade's legs. The great mystery of the whole affair is how Schiemangk
established the communication with his friends which, it is declared, must have been absolutely necessary to the success
of the enterprise.

Floods Destroy Much Rice In China.

Shanghai, Sept. 2.—A telegram from Wuhu states that according to an accurate estimate the floods in the Province of Anhui have destroyed some 235,000 acres of rice. No hope remains for the autumn crops.

Half a million people are homeless and
are sheltering in straw huts awaiting relief. Local markets cannot provide above one month's supplies.
The main streets of Wuhu are flooded
to a depth of 3 feet and sickness is inevitable as the water recedes.

Lens Burns House.

Paris, Sept. 2.—A photographic lens is held responsible for the burning of a house as Crespiers. It proves one thing,
namely, the danger of leaving a lens lying about carelessly in the sun. The house of a well known notary took fire
and was partly burned down. The fire started in the garret, and there were all sorts of surmises, until the authorities
discovered a photographic lens which had been placed on an old oak desk close to a window. The sun shining on the lens is supposed to have set fire to the desk.

Cold Blooded Murder by Apaches.

Paris, Sept. 2.—Another story has just been given out by the police of a cold-blooded murder by Apaches. A police captain today related the incident in the following words:

"A party of Apaches entered a wine-shop to have a game of billiards. The game was carried on in great mystery,
and absorbed all the interest and attention of the players. They had an enemy
who was to 'done for,' and whoever lost
the game was to 'do' him. When the game was over the loser accepted the result without discussion. Not long afterwards a workman was stabbed fac-
tally as he was coming out of a dancing hall. The man who had stabbed him quickly disappeared and the workman
was placed in a cab and driven to an address which he had given. This was in a certain street, where a sister of his was living.

"The man was barely able to get out of the cab and to explain that he had been stabbed. His case was so serious that he was conveyed to a hospital, and died a few hours later. The police then made an inquiry and learned how the murder was deliberately decided upon and savagely executed. The workman himself did not know that his life was staked on a game of billiards. The police have not yet been able to capture the Apaches, but they hope to have them in hand before long."

Sir Herbert Rehearsing "Macbeth."

London, Sept. 2.—Sir Herbert Tree,
back from Marienbad, has for the last few days been rehearsing diligently his autumn production; "Macbeth," the first performance of which he will present at His Majesty's Theatre on Tuesday.

Looking sunburnt and strong, he declared today he was interested in everything. "At Marienbad I drank the waters of forgetfulness and memorized Macbeth. What a glorious rest it was after a year of continued strenuous work." His energies, he declared, could hardly find sufficient scope in rehearsals
only. He was obsessed by the struggle
over the veto bill, by the great labor unrest, by the new summer record set up by the sun, by the recent fire at the Carlton next door, from which his theatre had so narrowly escaped.

Wireless Compass.

Paris, Sept. 2.—The wonderful wireless
compass invented by the Italian officers, Bellini and Tosi, will shortly be used to enable ships to ascertain their position
in fogs.

Special wireless signals are to be sent out from various stations on the French
coast, and ships fitted with the Bellini-Tosi compass will be able to determine the direction in which the signals are traveling. Different signals are to be sent out at regular intervals from stations at Le Havre lightship, l'ile de Sein, and Creach d'Quessant. The "tune" of each signal will be different, and the signals, themselves will be various letters
of the alphabet, so that those arriving
from one station will not be confounded
with those coming from another.

The compass is an instrument which,
when "tuned" to receive any wireless signals, shows by an indicator in what direction the signalling station lies. During a fog, therefore, an operator in a ship with the compass will be able to ascertain the directions in which the various stations lie, and from these data the ship's position can be calculated with a fair amount of accuracy.

Hospital Without Knife or Medicine.

London, Sept. 2.—A hospital containing
not a dose of medicine nor a surgeon's knife—a veritable hospital of magic—has been opened in London.

The new Radium Institute the second
radium hospital in the world—owes its existence to the suggestions of the late King Edward.

Apart from the necessary apparatus,
the sole "stock in trade," of this new handsome building, opposite the Queen's Hall, consists of a few blackish specks
of a mysterious substance which could easily be placed on a watch glass.

Mr. A. E. Hayward Pinch, F. R. CS, is
the medical superintendent.
On each side of a long corridor are waiting rooms, where patients are inspected
previous to the application of radium.

Poor patients who pay nothing—they cannot be treated without a certificate
from their medical adviser—and paying patients have separate apartments, but
rich and poor receive exactly the same attention. On the first and second floors
are the rooms where radium is applied.

To estimate the total value of the radium in the institute is practically impossible, said the medical superintendent yesterday. It has been estimated at between $250,000 and $300,000 by other authorities.

Assisted by Alphonso.

London, Sept. 2.—One of those pleasing little royal incidents which appeal so strongly to the man in the street is reported from Coves.

While shopping the other day, King Alfonso, of Spain, observed that a foreign sailor was in a difficulty with regard to the exchange of his money.

His Majesty at once came to his assistance, and the man was soon set right.
At first the sailor had no idea of the exalted rank of his friend in need, but when told he instantly saluted.

Gift For Rifle Range.

London, Sept. 2.—The Secretary of State for War has received an offer of $50,000 as a gift to the nation for the purchase of a rifle range near one of the populated districts of England.

The donor, who wishes to remain
anonymous, signs his letter "An Englishman from beyond the seas," and emphasizes the growing impulse throughout the empire towards united action for defence
and the importance of organizing the spirit of patriotism on common lines to the best advantage."

Beauty of English Women.

London, Sept. 2.—The secret is out.
The cause of the bloom on Englishwom-
en's cheeks has been discovered.

Inquiries show that the London woman "can be kept as beautiful as she may wish for $500 a year, but $500 to $5,000
can be spent for more luxurious treatment and more expensive accessories."

This statement was made by a Bond street beauty specialist with a large experience.
But the average Englishwoman spends considerably less money on making herself beautiful than the American, French
or Viennese," the beauty specialist said,
because she uses more hygienic means
and dispenses with artificial helps, such as rouges, chin straps, face masks and other devices to develop her figure by unnatural means."

Motor Car Horn Loses Terror.

London, Sept. 2.—The traffic police of London are confronted with a new problem.

The motor-car horn, owing to the heat
and the holidays, is gradually losing its power and terror.
People will not get out of the way
even when the horn "honks" the very
louden and down along the south coast,
where all is sunshine and holidays, cauf-feurs have to blow shrill whistles to rouse the visitor to a proper sense of their danger.

A Hastings taxi-driver said today that the motor horn was a useless warning
amongst the ideal holiday crowds.
"It makes a big noise," he said, "but it is what I call a 'slow noise,' and the people hear it, but dream on. A whistle is thin and rousing. It cuts in amongst the crowd and wakes them up."

Danger of Women Living Alone.

London, Sept. 2.—The tendency of London women to live the life of a virtual recluse has raised the question:
"Should a woman live alone?" The preponderance of the female population in the city makes the question one of serious consequence.

"There is danger in women living alone
for nine out of ten of them grow morose
and bitter against fate," stated a well-known writer, who advises that lonely woman should share her rooms with another woman of about her own age.

A superintendent of a large block of flats in the West End of London, with much experience of flats occupied by bachelor women, would advise no woman
to live alone.

"If I had a daughter," he said "I should very much prefer that she shared
a flat with a young woman of her own
age and similar experience.

"I certainly think that women living alone become morose. In a sense, they lose caste, for they lose conversational power, and also a certain amount of respect for themselves.

"It needs a wonderfully sunny nature
to exist in a flat alone and cheerful, for if anyone spends many hours alone every trifling worry is thought over and magnified."

A well known soprano vocalist of a happy disposition who occupies a flat to herself, said she considered a woman
could be perfectly contented alone providing she had plenty of work to do.

"I am quite happy," she said, "because I am so busy and interested in my profession. In fact, my flat is little more than a place to sleep or work in."

"The reason why so many of our sex prefer to live alone," said a woman interested in problems concerning bachelor
women, "is that two women in one house frequently quarrel. A great deal of forbearance is necessary on both sides, and there must be some mutual tastes and interests for two women friends to live
in peace.

"The other choice a woman has is to live in one of the big hostilities built for lonely women. Some of these are excellent, and here she has many advantages,
but the intelligent woman kicks against
a kind of return to the nursery life and being told she must get special permission to stay out after 11 o'clock at night to go to a theatre, receive a male

visitor, or keep a dog."

London Beseet by Flies.

London, Sept. 2.—London is beseet by a plague of flies, and so, too, are the country districts around where hordes of wasps reinforce them.

The wasps attack the sugar and the jam, while the flies, bearing all sorts of bacilli upon their legs, crawl over all food indiscriminately.

A correspondent complains that the flies every morning prevent him going to sleep in his Westminster flat before 4
a. m., and wake him up again at 5, so that the pests only allow him one hour's sleep.

Another, who has spent much money
on disinfectants, has adopted the expedient of covering his dining table at meal times with mosquito netting beneath which he and his family grope for their dinner.

"The sale of fly-paper has been phenomenal this last week or so," a shop-
keeper said.

They'll Get It, Anyhow.

Within a few days Louis Dodge, of the St. Louis Times, will arrive in New York on a little visit. While Mr. Dodge has often been in Kansas City, St. Joseph, Dubuque and other widely known middle Western cities, he has never been turned loose in a city that counts its population up in the millions. Therefore he is worried a little about the way he should act in New York.

Recently a New York friend received a letter from the St. Louis man, asking for a little information. Among other things he wrote:

"Shall I carry my money in a belt or
in my shoe?"

"It doesn't make any difference," replied his friend. "You can't hide money
in New York."—New York Telegraph.

A Doting Wife.

Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont, the suffragette
leader, tells this story of a forgiving
wife:

"I used to know a married pair, she says, 'of whom the wife was a devoted and charming woman and the man was a good-for-nothing. But no matter what he did, his wife always forgave him. One day I was calling upon her, when I saw her butler pass the door with a huge
green parrot in a cage.

"Oh," said I, 'are you going to get rid of Uncle Tom?' Uncle Tom was the parrot.

"'Yet,' said the poor little wife, with a sigh, 'I'm very fond of him, but I feel that it is my duty to send him away.'"

"And why is it your duty?" I asked.
"I just found out the other day," said
she, 'that naughty Uncle Tom is teaching
my husband to swear.'—Cosmopolitan

Drinking Decreases Your Salary

EVERY drink you take lessens your earning capacity. The people you do business with, or work for, lose confidence in you and then—before you realize it you are unable to get a position. Now let's get down to facts. Drinking is a disease, and it must be treated scientifically. Four weeks of treatment at the Keeley Institute of Greensboro can take away that craving for alcohol. It will remove your appetite for liquor and rebuild you into the same man you were before you started to indulge. And right here earning capacity enters again. Statistics covering several hundred cases, show that the Keeley Institute has increased the average earnings of the men who have taken the treatment over 500 per cent. simply because it has taken away the handicap of inebriety.

There is an individuality to the Keeley treatment as administered at Greensboro. There is a personality that tends to up-build the moral character of the individual as well as make him a new man physically. There is a fellowship—an environment that will help you help yourself.

The Keeley Institute at Greensboro has helped thousands of men—we can aid you too. Write today in confidence, for our book. It will amply prove all our claims.

BELIEVED DEMOCRATIC PARTY WILL SPLIT IN CONVENTION

Washington Correspondent Learns That Movement to Organize Progressive Element Has Already Been Commenced—Precinct Clubs to be Formed by the Insurgent Forces.

BELIEVED

(By SIDNEY ESPEY.)

Washington, Sept. 2.—That the Democratic party as well as the Republican party will be split in its next national convention by the progressive idea, is already patent. The movement of the progressives to control the convention has been formally organized.

For five or six years the Republican party has been divided. A growing element of the party has subscribed to the progressive views of such leaders as Senators La Follette and Cummins, former President Roosevelt, former Secretary James R. Garfield and Gifford Pinchot. So far has this Republican split gone that the apparent Republican majority in the House turned out to be no majority at all, and the apparent Republican majority in the present Senate turned out the same way.

All this is well known to the country, but the fact that the same radical movement had begun its work of dividing the Democratic party in Congress and throughout the country has not been widely known, as the movement had taken no definite form until within the past few days.

When Senators Owen of Oklahoma, Kern of Indiana, and Chamberlain of Oregon, got together the other day in this city they made the announcement that the progressive movement among Democrats had taken definite form, and that party leaders in almost every state in the union were eager to join the Democratic Federation of Precinct Clubs.

While the organization of the precinct clubs is the first outward sign of the Democratic progressive movement, the fact that Democratic insurgency has smoldered for weeks, during the extra session of Congress, has been known to many leaders.

This insurgency made itself manifest when opposition developed to the election of Senator Martin of Virginia, as Democratic leader. A number of Southern and Western Democrats in the Senate bitterly opposed the movement to honor the Virginian and as a result a division of the Senate minority became at once evident. Senator Martin was elected, but he won by the narrowest kind of a margin.

Later still this same insurgency came to the surface when a number of Democratic Senators assailed the action of their associates in breaking with the Republican insurgents. The opinion was strong among the Democratic progressives that the coalition was "honor bound" to remain intact until after the tariff fight, and they openly offered sympathy to the Republican progressives on account of the ludicrous position in which they found themselves at the close of the session.

Now the precinct club organization has been inaugurated. This is designed to spread from State to State, from county to county and from precinct to precinct. It has been started a year or more in advance of the election and nearly a year in advance of the convention which nominates the next Democratic candidate.

The members of this league are advocates of such ideas as the referendum and the recall, lower tariff and complete control of the trusts. They will put out a platform which will be their declaration of principles for the next national convention.

These same members are afraid of the nomination of such a candidate as Judson Harmon of Ohio, or Governor Baldwin of Connecticut. They are afraid of the influence of Wall Street and the corporations, and are preparing to fight this influence in the next convention as long as there is any fight left in them.

When questioned members of this league admit that they would not oppose the nomination of Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey, of former Governor Folk of Missouri, of Speaker Champ Clark, or of Governor Foss of Massachusetts. Any one of this list of possibilities would be acceptable to the precinct club organizations.

From present indications the progressive movement in the Democratic party will not go far enough to cause a bolt in the next national convention. Should the insurgents lose, they say they will remain in the party, taking the ground that more can be accomplished by the reform of the party, than in the organization of a new party.

This situation is not altogether true of the Republican insurgents. They boldly threaten to pull out of the G. O. P. if they find that it cannot be organized, and start a new party which will be organized on what they regard as the right basis.

All this political activity immediately following the adjournment of Congress shows clearly that the next national campaign will be begun months earlier than is usual. It means that the country will be stirred by practically a whole year's appeal for votes.

President Taft will leave Beverly for a six weeks' tour of the West. Everybody who knows anything about the situation understands that he is initiating his campaign for re-election by this trip. He is not giving up his official vacation to pleasure. He is going to make this trip to make his defense before the country.

Both parties are drawing their lines clearly more than twelve months before the issue is to be decided at the polls.

Remedies are Needed

Were we perfect, which we are not, medicines would not often be needed. But since our systems have become weakened, impaired and broken down through indiscretions which have gone on from the early ages through countless generations, remedies are needed to aid Nature in correcting our inherited and otherwise acquired weaknesses. To reach the seat of stomach weakness and consequent digestive troubles, there is nothing so good as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, a glyceric compound, extracted from native medicinal roots—sold for over forty years with great satisfaction to all users. For Weak Stomach, Biliouness, Liver Complaint, Pain in the Stomach after eating, Heartburn, Bad Breath, Belching of food, Chronic Diarrhea and other intestinal Derangements, the "Discovery" is a time-proven and most efficient remedy.

STRIKE

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 2.—A strike on the Harriman lines was brought near the culmination today when J. W. Cline, president of the Blacksmiths' Union, issued a statement to the effect that the men will stand up for their demands. LACKS AUTHORITY TO OUST CHAIRMAN

Subcommittee Without Jurisdiction to Act on Pilcher Resolution.

Norfolk, Va., Sept. 2.—That the subcommittee of the Democratic State Committee has reached the decision that it has no jurisdiction to act on the resolution offered by George Pilcher, one of the attorneys for the Fusionists, asking that W. M. McAllister, its chairman, be barred from further participation in the investigation, leaked out last night, although the decision has not been formally announced.

Mr. McAllister told the committee after this decision was reached that he would preside at all of the remaining sessions of the investigation.

The sensation was the development on cross-examination of W. C. Megninley, registrar at South Norfolk and member of the county committee, that his registration book was not that furnished by the State, but a book purchased by himself, and that he had not required applicants for registration to file the written application required by law, and that many of the persons registering were not required to subscribe to the required oath.

When this admission was made by Mr. Megninley, the attorneys for the contestees strenuously objected. They contended that since illegal registration in that precinct was limited to three names in the complaint, that the testimony should not go beyond that. When the testimony was admitted the Fusion attorneys asked for a conference. After being in a private room some time, they sent for the committee. The committee, however, went into executive session and debated the matter among themselves for over an hour, without arriving at a decision.

It is contended that the admission of such testimony will lead to prolonged hearing and bring the registrar into a controversy that might be more far-reaching than has yet been contemplated.

Other testimony offered by the contestees, was in rebuttal of evidence submitted by the Straightouts, and was mostly detail enumeration of alleged illegal voting.

Humane Mistress.

"And are you still rejoicing in that splendid cook, Mrs. Malaprop?" inquired the caller. "Well, we are and we ain't," said Mrs. Malaprop. "The fact is Mary was so completely preoccupied by the work of my house hold that I've given her a three weeks' vacation. I was afraid if I didn't she would be invalidated permanently."—Harper's Weekly.

Get Free Transportation.

Railroads carry postal clerks "dead-head," and this free transportation to Uncle Sam's servants is figured by the carriers to be worth a million dollars a year. The roads are subject to damages to injuries received on trains by the postal clerks.

The Two Kinds of Widows.

There are two kinds of widows, grass and sod. The sod species, sometimes known as the common or garden variety of widow, is relieved of the burden of a spouse. The grass widow has a husband on her hands, but cannot put said hands upon him. —From Case and Comment.

Put Confidence in Nurse.

Very small experience of practice is needed to show that in serious illness the patient's friends generally ask the nurse if she thinks the doctor "really understands the case," and they are much influenced by her opinion and the manner in which she gives it.—London Hospital.

GIRL WITH BUSINESS IDEAS

Beautiful Creature Was Not Satisfied That Proposal Made on Sunday Was Binding.

"George," said the beautiful girl, as she settled close to him, "the last time you called you proposed."
"I did, sweet one."
"And I accepted you."
"You did, love."
"I presume, George," she went on, in her most fascinating manner, "that you look upon me merely as a foolish, thoughtless girl, but—but—"
"How can you think so, pet?" he interrupted.
"But," she went on, in a more businesslike way, "I have something of the business instinct of the New Woman in me, and—and—I shall have to ask you to repeat the proposal again tonight. The last time you called it was Sunday, and contracts made on that day, I learn, are not legally binding."

Almost Lost.

"I'm afraid," said the publisher, "your novel won't have much of a sale."
"I can't see why it shouldn't," replied the author.
"Well, if you insist on having the truth, it is too long drawn out. The interest isn't sustained and it is very poorly written."
"But my wife is going to sue me for divorce in a week or two, and there's likely to be quite a scandal."
"Wait! I'll have a contract ready for you to sign in just a minute."

News to Her.

"Are you not glad to set foot on terra firma?" asked a lady of an old friend who had just landed from an American liner.
"Terra firma?" was the response.
"Dear me! I thought this was Queenstown!"—Tit-Bits.

TWO VIEWS.

The Deacon—Parson, we've come to the conclusion that you're too liberal.
The Parson—Well, I've come to the conclusion that the congregation is too economical.

Almost Unbearable.

Mrs. Flynn (at Casey's funeral)—Isn't it terrible?
Mrs. Dolin—U! Is! There they have me wreath stuck way over in was corner, wid big Tim Kelly's gates ajar on top ay ut, an' Mike Sheedy's broken column hiding ut intolrely!—Puck.

Utilizing the Tyrant.

"Is your master at home?"
"I'll ask me mistress."
"What do you mean by that?"
"Mistress is dictatin' a speech fef her club on 'Centuries of Masculine Tyranny,' an' master is doin' her typewritin'."

Result of Practice.

"I don't like Mr. Jobbs; he is a very pushing fellow."
"Don't blame him for it. It comes from the way his wife makes him work the lawn mower."

Many of Them.

"Do you know why a dishonest grocer's scales are like the poet's Arabs?"
"I suppose it is because they so gently steal a weigh."

Natural Desire.

"Why is that man so rabid against Shakespeare in the discussion of the authorship of the plays?"
"Because, naturally, he wants to save his bacon."

At the Milliner's.

"And you told her that that hat looked perfectly stunning on her!"
"Well, I near fainted."

The Progressive People of This Town Send Messages to Each Other Through the Want Ads!

When an employer publishes a help wanted ad he knows that only progressive people will see and answer it. When a property owner prints a "real estate for sale" ad he knows that not many people will read it except those who are able and inclined to buy real estate.

When a landlord advertises a house or apartment for rent he knows that, as a rule, only the "business like" people read and answer such ads, and that he is not apt to secure an undesirable tenant in that way. And the work-seeker, the capital-seeker, the "sub-landlord" who has rooms to rent—these all know that their messages are interesting to live and progressive people—that no others read "the want ad messages."

THERE'S A WANT AD MESSAGE FOR YOU IN ALMOST EVERY ISSUE of this PAPER!

The Good Tailor Earns His Money!

For every dollar "more" that you pay a good Tailor you get double value in Clothes. You get it in the Cloth—in the Workmanship

YOU get this double-value in the way of distinctive clothes—CLOTHES MADE FOR THE ONLY MAN IN THE WORLD THEY WOULD FIT AND SUIT. That's one important reason for tailors—you are the only man of the human race of your exact personality. You have no real doubles or duplicates. Therefore, you ought to wear clothes that were made for YOU. OUGHTN'T YOU?

CELLULOID COLLAR ABLAZE

Carelessness With Match Results Badly For Prisoner.

Richmond, Sept. 2.—When he attempted to light a cigarette last night while confined in a cell at the First Police Station, a blazing match fell from the hands of E. A. Winfree, who was under arrest for drunkenness, struck his shoulder and set fire to a celluloid collar he was wearing. Instead of calling for help Winfree attempted to put out the flames, and did not succeed in doing so until his shirt had been burnt from his back. He received severe burns about the arms, breast and neck. Medical attention was rendered by Dr. Watts, of the city ambulance.

Not until a strong odor of burning cloth attracted their attention did the officers on duty at the station house become aware of the fact that Winfree was in danger. When found the man had put the fire out, but the cell room was filled with smoke. Though badly burned, his condition is not serious.

There was very little going on in the Municipal court this morning. Court convened at the regular hour and it was found that only one case was called for today. That was the case against Will Busick for the cutting scrape of some days past. This case was continued until next Thursday, when it will be tried before Judge Eure.

Busick, in a fit of anger, seriously cut Frank Hudson with a large pocketknife. Hudson was rushed to the hospital in an automobile, where upon examination, it was found that one of his lungs had been cut into. For several days pneumonia threatened to set in and he was in a serious condition. Then he began to convalesce, and Busick was released on bond of $500 to await trial.

HENRY BEATTIE IS JUBILANT OVER OUTCOME OF TRIAL

General Belief is That it will Result in Hung Jury.

Chesterfield Courthouse, Va., Sept. 2.—Henry Beattie is jubilant over the developments in the case, despite the fact that the defense's sensation was exploded by the denial of Charles Castleburg, the Richmond business man who it was stated had been on the Midway turnpike on the night of the murder, that he was on the pike on the night of the murder. Another disaster for the defense is the fact that Hill Carter had decided not to offer the deposition of Mrs. Stegar, which was taken this morning. The general impression is that the trial will result in a hung jury.

Having to take the deposition of Mrs. C. M. Stegar, who lives within a hundred yards of the scene of the crime, the counsel for the defense was late in getting into court today.

The sensation of the day was the receipt of a letter by Judge Watson, threatening his life if the son of the rich banker should be sentenced to death.

Charles Castleburg emphatically denied the report that he was on the turnpike the night of the murder. Eliza Moseley, colored, testified that she heard a gun shot on the night of the murder, this being followed by the tooting of an auto horn. Her testimony substantiates that of the defendant. The deposition of Mrs. Stegar was not offered. It is reported that Mrs. Stegar had said that a bearded man came to her home on Sunday previous to the murder, coming out of the nearby woods, and asked for food.

John Mulcahy, who was arrested in Richmond last night, had in his possession several letters pertaining to the Beattie case. The prisoner was confined in the Henrico jail while Beattie was a prisoner there and it is alleged the letters were given him by Beattie with instructions to destroy them, which instructions he failed to carry out. It is reported that the contents of the letters may have an important bearing on the case.

MRS. MCGILL BROKE DOWN

Gives the Real Facts In Regard to Her Case and Tells How She Suffered.

Jonesboro, Ark.—"I suffered a complete break down in health, some time ago," writes Mrs. A. McGill, from this place. "I was very weak and could not do any work. I tried different remedies, but they did me no good. One day, I got a bottle of Cardul. It did me so much good, I was surprised, and took some more. Before I took Cardul, I had headache and backache, and sometimes I would cry for hours. Now I am over all that, and can do all kinds of housework. I think it is the greatest medicine on earth."

In the past fifty years, thousands of ladies have written, like Mrs. McGill, to tell of the benefit received from Cardul.

Such testimony, from earnest women, surely indicates the great value of this tonic remedy, for diseases peculiar to women. Are you a sufferer? Yes? Cardul is the medicine you need. We urge you to try it.

75 PER CENT. OF THE BIG ADVERTISERS OF AMERICA PREFER EVENING NEWSPAPERS

Out of 400 Large Department Stores 302 say they Prefer Evening Papers and Give Reasons Why

(FROM THE LOS ANGELES RECORD)

OUT of 400 letters sent to the large Department Stores of America asking which they considered a better medium for advertising, a morning or an evening daily newspaper, 392 replied. Of these replies 302 stated they preferred the evening newspaper for advertising; 26 stated they gave the evening paper first copy when they used an evening and a morning paper. As the Department Stores are always the largest advertisers in their respective cities and are in a position to see where the results come from, their opinions, formed from experience, are most valuable. They all speak most emphatically of the advantages of the evening paper over the morning paper for advertising. Of these 302 advertisers who prefer the evening paper a large number of them use the evening paper exclusively and find the returns most profitable.

THE following statements made by the different large firms of America show why they prefer the evening paper over the morning paper:

ST. LOUIS, MO.—The evening paper is best, as it is the one that gets into the homes and stays there. Men carry the morning paper downtown on their way to work in most cases.—Wm. Barr Dry Goods Co.

BIRMINGHAM, ALA.—The evening paper undoubtedly is the best advertising medium, because it most surely gets into the very hands toward which all department store advertising is intended—the women of the house—and because there is plenty of time to read, plan and digest.—Loveman, Joseph & Loeb.

CHICAGO, ILL.—We spend $325,000 a year and 75 per cent of it is in the evening papers and 25 per cent in Sunday papers. Even with our great morning papers we cannot make them pay, though the experimenting has cost us $100,000.—Siegel, Cooper & Co.

EVANSVILLE, IND.—We prefer the evening paper for advertising because the housekeeper, business man and working man have more time to go through the paper in detail after the day's work is over and have time to plan their next day's shopping. Our experience is that we get quicker and more direct results from the evening paper.—Fowler, Dick & Walker.

BOSTON, MASS.—We consider the evening paper the best medium, because it is taken home and the women get to see it.—Henry Siegel Company.

BRIDGEPORT, CONN.—We consider the evening newspaper better, because we cater to the working people, and they are employed from 7 a. m. to 6 p. m. and their only leisure time is in the evening, and they invariably take only evening papers, and have more time to read advertisements.—Cline Bros.

ALBANY, N. Y.—We consider the evening newspaper a better medium for advertising, because women have more time and better opportunity to read the evening papers.—Waldman Bros.

AKRON, OHIO.—We consider an evening paper a superior medium. The evening paper goes direct to the homes and is more thoroughly read. It is read by men after business duties are through for the day and they are more liable to remember the advertising. The morning paper is used by office men.—C. H. Leager & Co.

CINCINNATI, OHIO.—Best results from evening newspapers. The only time I use a morning paper is Sunday for Monday's business. Balance of the week the evening papers do the work to my entire satisfaction.—The Fair.

LOUISVILLE, KY.—We use afternoon papers exclusively during the week. Morning papers on Sunday only.—John C. Lewis Company.

ST. LOUIS, MO.—For advertisements containing items of special prominence likely to produce a rush, the evening newspaper serves as a better advertising medium, first, because people as a rule, have more time to read an evening paper thoroughly and note the contents thereof; second, it gives an opportunity to shoppers to select what items they contemplate purchasing and allows them time to prepare a program for the next day's shopping.—Burgin Dry Goods Company.

BROOKLYN, N. Y.—We prefer the evening paper week days and the morning paper Sundays only, because the evening paper is brought to the home by the member of the family who goes to business and buys and reads the paper on his way home. The Sunday paper is delivered at the home and read in the home.—Price & Rosenbaum.

BROOKLYN, N. Y.—We consider the evening paper the better medium for advertising, mainly because the evening paper goes into the home and stays there when there is time for the whole family to read and consider.—Frederick Losser & Co.

ST. PAUL, MINN.—We have always given the evening paper the preference. We spend $40,000 a year for advertising and this all goes into newspapers. We use no other medium of any kind, as we consider ANYTHING OUTSIDE OF THE NEWSPAPER as money wasted.—W. H. Elsinger & Co.

PROVIDENCE, R. I.—We consider the evening paper better as a general thing, for it is usually the home paper.—Caldendar, McAuslin — Troup Co.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND.—The evening paper is, in our opinion, most profitable for advertising.—The Wm. H. Block Company.

BUFFALO, N. Y.—We do most of our advertising in the evening paper.—Wm. Henerer Co.

BOSTON, MASS.—We prefer the evening paper by all means, because it goes into the homes directly, while the morning paper has a tendency to work back into the business section and does not reach the homes in such relative number as the evening paper.—Houghton & Dutton.

ST. PAUL, MINN.—Where I've been, almost without exception, the evening paper is the best medium.—W. H. Milligan, Advertising Manager Field, Schlick & Co.

CLEVELAND, OHIO.—The evening paper by all means.—The Bailey Company.

BIRMINGHAM, ALA.—It is our opinion that the evening paper is better, as the shopper is prepared to sally forth the next morning.—Penny & Gentles.

THE PRECINCT CLUBS A BOOM FOR WILSON

Senator Owen Said They Were for Purpose of Seeing That People and not Bosses Control Next National Convention—Out for Progressive.

Special to Telegram.
(By RODERICK CLIFFORD.)

Washington, Sept. 2.—Politicians see in the movement inaugurated by United States Senator Owen of Oklahoma, and other Democratic Senators and Representatives, the beginning of a vast presidential boom of Gov. Woodrow Wilson, of New Jersey. An organization named the Democratic Federation of Precinct Clubs was perfected the day after Congress adjourned.

The federation was chartered by the District of Columbia, and as stated in the papers filed in the court, its purpose is to organize Democratic precinct clubs in every county in the United States.

Comment concerning the new organization was that it is for the purpose of spreading the Wilson boom for the nomination in 1912.

Just before the meeting was called to order by Senator Owen he addressed the Senators and Representatives who had gathered, and said:

"The purpose of the federation will be to see that the people and not the bosses control the next Democratic national convention. The organization will wage a vigorous campaign to see that a progressive candidate, who will serve the people, shall be nominated. It will fight for a progressive platform also."

Plans for the confederation have been carefully thought out and considered for a long time. All details have been perfected. Many prominent Democrats, both in and out of Congress have endorsed the plans of the organization.

It was understood from the remarks made by Senator Owen that a progressive will be endorsed to head the ticket to be supported by the federation. This undoubtedly means Governor Woodrow Wilson, as he stands out most prominently in the field of politics as champion of the progressive movement.

It is significant in this connection that at the ending of Congress, there was a long procession of Democratic statesmen headed northward from Washington in the direction of the Jersey coast. Even the uninitiated have marked this and have wondered at it. Not only have they sought the quietude and restfulness of the seashore resorts as a vacation, but rumor has it that they went in that direction for the purpose of having interviews with the Governor of New Jersey.

Careful scouting revealed that a number of these Senators and Congressmen did not visit the Jersey coast merely for a dip in the ocean, but headed for Spring Lake, New Jersey, a resort frequently visited by Governor Wilson.

Lately the Governor has been making it a point to visit the seashore, and there he has met a number of statesmen who will play a large part in the national campaign in 1912. Naturally the gossip between them has largely been about the coming presidential election and it is safe to assume that Wilson, by the time Congress opens in December, will be much stronger among the Democrats and progressive insurgents than ever before.

Sensor Owen, it is known, will soon spend a part of his vacation somewhere along the Jersey coast, and it is reported that he has made engagements with Wilson to talk over the coming presidential situation.

Senator Stone, of Missouri, although not in attendance at the preliminary meeting of the Federation in Washington, is heartily in accord with the purpose of the new political club. He is one of the big men of his party, and on his way home stopped at a seashore resort near Atlantic City.

Stone is not an avowed Wilson supporter. With Governor Folk and Speaker Champ Clark, both of Missouri in the race for the Presidency, he could hardly be. But Governor Wilson knows that

"Gunshoe Bill" is one of the ablest and most astute politicians in the party, and when the Senator had an informal talk with Wilson the other day it is presumed that he was well satisfied with the way things are going.

Moreover, Mr. Stone, though he was subjected to a great deal of unfavorable comment at home because of some of the alliances that he had made during the maelstrom of politics, is nevertheless always found in the progressive ranks in the Senate. In later years Senator Stone has used his influence among the Senators to lead them away from policies advocated by Senator Bailey of Texas.

Consequently the ideas and policies advocated by Governor Wilson and Senator Stone are so identical that gossip has it that the two men will hold a number of conferences over the political situation and that as an outcome a secret alliance will be promoted between Western Democrats favorable to the candidacy of Mr. Wilson.

It is significant of the activity of the Wilson boom that the New Jersey Governor is managing to lure to the Jersey coast some of the strongest and ablest politicians in the Democratic side of the House of Representatives, and in the Senate. Other Democratic politicians are finding their way there too. It is well known here that the utmost effort is being put forth to lay the foundation of the Wilson boom in such a manner that it will be hard work to upset it when the storm of the coming national convention period begins to break.

This is not all. The third meeting of the House of Governors, which will bring together governors from all over the country, will be held at Spring Lake on September 16. Governor Wilson will meet the governors, put in much time with them, and become better acquainted. Under cover of discussion of the difference between Federal and State power, there doubtless will be consideration of the 1912 campaign.

A Lofly Revenge.

"Why did you do that?" we ask, seeing him chuckle over the man's fright.

FRENCH AND GERMAN FLEETS TO BE REVIEWED NEXT WEEK

In View of the Relations of the Two Countries This Will Be Significant—French Review Monday While Germany's Fleet Will Be Inspected Tuesday.

(By GEORGE DUFRESNE.)
Special to Telegram.

Paris, Sept. 2.—The opening week of September will be a notable one, at least from the spectacular point of view. On Monday the President of the French Republic will review the fleet which Vice Admiral Jauréguiberry is to exercise in the tactical maneuvers for the following fortnight, and on Tuesday at Kiel, the German Emperor, with Admiral Count Montenucci, commander-in-chief of the Austrian Navy, as his guest, will review the active and reserve squadrons of the high sea fleet.

In both cases the force assembled will be the most powerful ever collected under their respective flags, and although the German fleet will be in every way more noteworthy of the two—it will contain at least seven Dreadnaughts—there is good reason for regarding the French assembly as the more important gathering politically.

On August 1 the French fleet was nominally redistributed so as to concentrate the whole of the active force in the Mediterranean, but the new system will not come into actual operation until after the maneuvers. The French fleet will then be in a position of superiority to a combination of Italy and Austria, but the supremacy is not to be very lasting one, unless France greatly enlarges her present naval program, for, as it is, Italy alone bids fair to outbuild France as a Dreadnaught power.

Military aeronautics being now a recognized department in the French army, the Minister of War has thought it well to amplify it by having recourse to the civilian element at grand maneuvers. France is a nation of soldiers, and all her brilliant aviators are Reservists. They can be called upon and in war time would be called upon, to do military service. Every Frenchman with a diploma of the Aero Club will have the same chance of obtaining the Legion of Honor and the Médaille Militaire as the military aviators in actual service. It is an excellent development and shows that government is sometimes amenable to suggestions made by the press.

The hot summer will bring us one blessing—the best vintage recorder for years. The heat has not only helped to mature the grapes thoroughly in all the vine districts, but is has destroyed most of the obnoxious insects. The quantity will be that of an ordinary good year. The champagne people look forward to a vintage that will surpass in excellence that of 1893 and the Burgundy wines will be remarkable. The Bordeaux agriculturists also anticipate a rich quality for this year, with a bouquet that will compare favorably with the best. The south is quite enthusiastic, and announces that its "ordinary" will be fit to be drunk by millionaires.

Restoration the other way about is being gradually carried on at Versailles in the palace and park. This is probably the first attempt of its kind ever made on an historic monument. The buildings, chiefly those of Louis XIV, are being, not rejuvenated, but aged. This, at any rate, is the lesser of two evils. Versailles brought up to date would be a crime. To bring it back to date is a more judicious operation in intention, but one wonders whether it will be quite safe. Nothing has been published of any scheme which may have been planned, but the idea seems to be to restore Versailles to what it was at a certain date in its history. What that chosen date may be is not stated. It is, anyhow, two centuries back; for various "restorations" have been already effected which consisted in removing additions made to the palace and to the buildings in the park at a later period than the seventeenth century.

Thus, at the Grand Trianon certain embellishments ordered by Napoleon I have been done away with, and the building restored more or less to what it was in the days of Louis XVI and Marie Antoinette, that is to say, the eighteenth century. More recently, however, other restorations have been made, consisting in the removal from the palace parts dating from the eighteenth century. Thus a small clock-tower of purely eighteenth century style on a wing of the palace has gone. Perhaps this may be carrying this new kind of restoration a little too far, for, if it were pursued logically, there seems no reason why a large part of the palace built under Louis XV should not be pulled down, to leave only Louis XVI architecture. Archaeological zeal might go still further and restore Versailles to what it was under Louis XIII, when it was a shooting box. Those responsible for the restoration may be suffering from a diseased passion, an ailment which attacks archaeologists and art critics. To the healthy artistic mind there is no evil in a mixture of styles, when each style is a good one and worthily represented. The flamboyant is not morally inferior to pure Gothic, but only different; and Louis XV is not debased Louis XIV, but another thing.

Versailles must be left as it is and not restored backward. "Kind friend," whined a beggar, "I'm trying to get to Glasgow, and I've got

Anderson, S. Brannon hit for a home run in the sixth inning and tied the score, the runs in the eighth coming on singles by Taylor, Kelly, J., Brannon and Brannigan.

Raising The Maine

If it is true that the raising of the Maine shows that we went to war with Spain unnecessarily, it is a sad fact, but quick "Snap" judgments as a rule always result disastrously. Remember that a store that has proved itself through years of careful and conscientious service is the store at which you want to deal and a store where you never will be disappointed.

Place your confidence in this store for you are getting a service that is based on solid sound judgment.

If "Bargain Hunting" Is Extravagance, Isn't It Strange That Bargain Hunt- ers Can Always Afford It!

And haven't you noticed that, even if the family income is not at all great, the bargain hunting woman always seems to have the money with which to indulge her "extravagance?"

This fact should teach her critics something—perhaps teach them that the fixed habit of intelligent buying, based upon a persistent study of the ads, is a form of "extravagance" that should prevail in every home in the land!

Died In Salisbury.

Mrs. C. W. Mowery went to Salisbury last night to attend the funeral of Miss Jessie Poole, whose death occurred yesterday morning. Miss Poole had often visited Mrs. Mowery and was well known here.

The following regarding her death is from yesterday's Salisbury Post:

The many friends of Miss Jessie Poole were saddened this morning when it was announced that she was dead. Her young life passed away to the God who gave it at 1:20 o'clock a. m., at her home 425 West Franklin street. She had been sick for four weeks with typhoid fever, and during the past few days little hope has been held out for her recovery. She was 19 years, 2 months and 22 days old.

The deceased leaves besides her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Poole, five sisters and three brothers, and a number of other relatives to mourn her death.

The funeral will be conducted from St. John's Lutheran church tomorrow afternoon at 4:30 o'clock, conducted by the pastor, Dr. M. M. Kinard, and the remains will be interred in the Chestnut Hill cemetery.

ICE WORM IS NEWEST PEST.

Its Ravages Materially Cut Down Size of Consumers' Chunk.

Springfield, Mass., Sept. 2.—The ice trust has a new ally—the ice worm—the inroads of which are said to be startling. The honor of the discovery falls upon a modest Springfield ice dealer who avers that the worm is large, almost transparent as regards color, propagates rapidly, and has an insatiable appetite. The ice worm was so destructive during last month's heat wave, the ice dealer unblushingly admits, that to protect himself he was obliged to increase the price of the ice to consumers, which he did without formality by reducing the size of the pieces of ice.

The ice worm discovery has been referred to the State authorities, but instead of being taken up by the Bureau of Entomology, will be searchingly investigated by the State Sealer of Weights and Measures. Tonight the ice man declined to discuss his discovery, even from a scientific aspect. He was inclined to think that it might be possible to stamp out the pest entirely.

CONVICTS BUCK THE TIGER.

Nevada Warden Introduced Faro and Roulette as Recreations.

Reno, Nev., Sept. 2.—Although gambling was abolished in the State after the bitterest political fight in the State's history, a sensation has been created by the disclosure that the convicts in the penitentiary at Carson City, the capital, are privileged to gamble by means of the very device the possession of which alone subjects any one to a penitentiary offense.

Warden Baker, who has earned the title of the "best warden ever," by giving the convicts as much freedom of action and recreation as possible, declares that gambling beats any other means of entertainment in vogue and has worked out so well that it may never be abolished. The prisoners run their own layouts favorite games are run by favorite bankers, and although the players are murderers, highwaymen, thieves, pickpockets, burglars and crooks of every sort, any shady or crooked playing meets quick ostracism. The men use prison money, and while faro and roulette are the favorite games, chuckaluck, Klondyke, craps and poker and fantan have their devotees. Whist is played among the more intelligent men. No credit is allowed for gambling and none can play to excess. The revelations may be followed by an investigation.
